

MARDERSCHOCK 220VOLT/20

Warranty

For 20 years we have been manufacturing devices to protect your car port from martens. Other than this 220V device featuring an ultrasonic marten repelling mechanism, we also offer devices made specifically for in-car usage.

Since the beginning we have constantly been improving our devices and pride ourselves on supplying our products to all the well-known wholesale car equipment dealers in Germany.

Technical specification:

sound frequency: sweep 16 to 50 kHz sound output: 112 - 115 dB

Mode of operation:

The device emits ultrasonic waves with a sound pressure of approx. 120 dB from its front side speaker, providing an effective range of approx. 15 meters (16.5 yards). When pressing the power-on switch, a short notification sound signals that the device is ready for use. In a range of approx. 2 m (2.2 yards) the speaker's weak static noise can be heard. At a greater distance, however, the noise is inaudible for human ears.

Our brand new flash light provides an additional repelling factor against martens. Flashes are emitted in randomized time intervals.

Set-Up:

Simply plug your Marderschock into a standard 220V electricity outlet to activate it. Point the device's front side speaker in the direction of the marten's entrance into your building or towards its favorite place.

When operating your Marderschock outdoors, make sure it is protected against waster. Wind can disperse the sound waves and have a negative impact on the Marderschock's operation. This also means that the device would not be effective in a carport unprotected against wind.

We provide an extended warranty of 24 months for our Marderschock system to the final customer, starting from the date of purchase. For registering a complaint, the final customer has to provide the dealer with a copy of the installation receipt which clearly states the serial number of the installed device. Belated insertion of the s/n is not possible. A proof or certificate for your engine wash is a mandatory requirement for this extended warranty.

Opening the devices or inappropriate handling thereof will void the warranty.
